Recent Press Releases (Headlines and Excerpts)

Medium, Busan Bank-Sony Music Publishing and Business Agreement... established korea's first 'metabus bank'

February 9, 2022 -- Medium Co., Ltd. said on 9 September that it had signed a business agreement with BNK Busan Bank and Sony Music Publishing Korea to establish digital banking services within the Metaverse platform.

Metaverse refers to a virtual world that combines the reality with social, cultural, and economic activities, such as reality, to take it a step further in existing virtual reality. The metaverse market, which Bloomberg Intelligence under the Bloomberg News Agency predicts will grow to USD 783.3 billion in 2024, is emerging as the next generation of food across the global industry with the NFT.

In this collaboration with BNK Busan Bank, a commercial bank, Medium will establish the first bank to handle digital assets on the Metaverse platform. Through this, the company plans to develop metaverse banking services equipped with various digital financial services and secure new growth engines.

Medium is a specialized company that has steadily accumulated track record across public sentiment, including the delivery of mutual trust settlement system (Korea Road Corporation) solution, the establishment of a global cross-order payment broadcasting platform (swap foundation), a real estate security trading system (peter pan's good defense) and the establishment of a benchmark test environment for public institutions.

In this project, Medium will put in the know-how of existing businesses, technology and expertise related to metaverse banking services such as blockchain mainnet and NFT services, and will be responsible for specific business progress and investments to do so.

Based on the know-how of financial transactions and asset management of the existing real economy, BNK Busan Bank plans to launch a comprehensive financial service and digital asset-related business of digital assets such as deposits and loans on the metaverse platform. Sony Music Publishing Korea is a global music publishing company that will provide a global digital sound source to Metaverse Banking Services to provide a new experience for Metaverse financial customers.
